neurological structures and circuits associated with decision making. In addition to his clinical and research activities, Jared is going through the licensure process, studying for the EPPP, and working to be board eligible in clinical neuropsychology by the end of his fellowship. When not busy with psychology related tasks, Jared enjoys spending time with his wife, Meredith, playing with his dog, Doodle, reading, playing guitar, cooking, and cheering for the Clemson Tigers!

NiVonne Thompson, LCSW, PhD is in her second Fellowship year at our Richmond VAMC site. NiVonne earned a PhD in clinical psychology at Alliant International University. She participated in clinical neuropsychological training and research at the San Francisco VAMC, including several studies of neurocognitive performance among Veterans with psychiatric conditions. Her dissertation examined emotion recognition errors among Veterans with schizophrenia.

NiVonne completed a health psychology internship at NY City Health Care and Hospitals Corporation, where she provided care in the World Trade Center Environmental Health Clinic for people with problems associated with the September 11th attacks. Her broad research interests include the study of social/cognitive aspects of executive functioning related to functional outcome. Her pilot study investigates the utility of an “emotional” Stroop paradigm as a differential diagnostic tool among OEF/OIF combat Veterans with PTSD, mTBI and comorbid PTSD/mTBI. She is looking forward to submitting a Career Development Award and is excited about the combination of continuing clinical and research opportunities offered by a long-term VA career.

New MIRECC Researcher

Mira Brancu, PhD, has worked as a Research Psychologist for the Registry study at the Durham VA MIRECC since August 2009. Last June she began transitioning into her current role as the Managing Director of the Registry project. Mira graduated from The Catholic University of America after completing her clinical internship at the Durham VAMC in 2009.

She is proud to call herself a generalist with clinical and research interests spanning health psychology, behavioral medicine, neuropsychology, compassion fatigue and self-care of medical professionals, and ethics. Formerly, Mira was a school counselor in both the public and private school settings providing counseling to elementary and high school students in the Washington DC-metropolitan area.

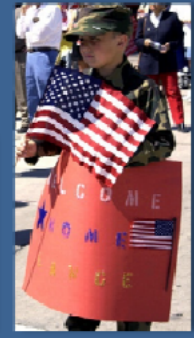

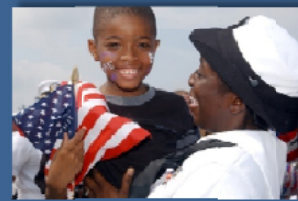

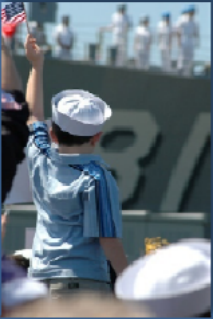

She completed MS and specialist degrees in school counseling from the University of Maryland and a BA in psychology from Binghamton University. She also worked as a licensed professional counselor providing in-home psychotherapy to underserved Medicaid recipients in Durham and Raleigh, NC. Mira lives in Carrboro, NC with her husband and two young children. They keep her busy most of the time.

Outreach to VA & Community Providers

MILITARY FAMILY ISSUES

Dr. Harold Kudler (Associate Director, Clinical) and Dr. Kristy Straits-Troster (Assistant Director, Clinical) have collaborated with the CSSP and NC-AHEC to develop this series of workshops.

This training will focus on aspects of today's military family that makes them unique. Various components of the military lifestyle will be reviewed such as a family perspective of military culture and the affects of deployment(s). Resources specific to healthcare professionals treating service members will be highlighted.

Who Should Attend? Psychologists, counselors, social workers and all healthcare practitioners who provide treatment to service men and women and/or their families.

2011 workshops:

Greensboro Wilson Raleigh Fayetteville Winston-Salem Greenville Charlotte

New Projects

Problem Solving Training

This is a national clinical pilot program sponsored by the VA's Office of Mental Health Services of a brief classroom or group-based training for Veterans. The hope is that learning problem solving skills will promote resiliency. This program was recently featured in the Fall 2010 issue of HealthPOWER! Prevention News.

Dr. Katherine Taber (Assistant Director, Education) is lead for our MIRECC on this project. She has recruited the collaboration of the VISN 6 ServMH group for both implementation and dissemination. Our MIRECC sent two people to the training in September - Debra Volkmer (Salisbury VAMC) and Jason Nieuwsma (Durham VAMC). A face-to-face ServMH meeting is being planned to disseminate both the training and lessons learned. Dr. Nieuwsma is also interested in incorporating the training into his ongoing work with chaplains.

Noon V-tel Lecture Schedule:

January 14

Dr. David Oslin (VISN 4 MIRECC)

This series is presented by V-tel and audio conferences. We are having increasing participation from sites outside VISN 6, so our assigned numbers may change. The number that each VISN 6 site will use to dial in will be included in an email notification prior to each presentation.

If you wish to attend from a site outside of VISN 6, please contact Mary Peoples (mary.peoples1@va.gov; 704-638-9000 ext 2956) so she can make the necessary arrangements.
