

Research Study for Military Personnel and Families from the Iraq/Afghanistan War Era

Contact Information

(Sticker with info)

Thank you for your help.

Dr. John Fairbank
VISN 6 MIRECC Director

VA HEALTH CARE

Defining EXCELLENCE
in the 21st Century

MIRECC
Mental Illness
Research, Education and Clinical Center

Volunteers needed for studies to improve veteran care and treatment

More Information About the Research Study

This research study is concerned with the effects of military deployment on the emotional, mental, and physical health of military personnel and their families.

- The approximate time commitment is 6 hours, in 1 or 2 appointments.
- No research study medications are required.
- Up to $175.00 for participation.

What is Involved?

- Meeting with study staff to discuss study participation.
- Filling out questionnaires on mood, emotions, trauma, and physical health.
- Answering questions about psychological symptoms you may be experiencing now or have experienced in the past.
- A blood draw.

Who is Eligible?

Active duty, National Guard, Reserves, and Veterans who have served in the military since September 11, 2001.
Deployment not necessary.

See back for
contact information.