The Mental Health Integration for Chaplain Services (MHICS) Certificate program is an intensive sub-specialty, standalone training that aims to better equip chaplains in the provision of care to Veterans and Service members with mental health-related concerns. This innovative training tailored to the contexts of DoD and VA chaplains uses applied, formational, and interactive approaches to cultivate knowledge and skills in evidence-based psychosocial and collaborative approaches to spiritual and pastoral care. Our aim is to further develop professional chaplaincy through the application of new and relevant knowledge, skills, and abilities within the context they serve, whether clinical, training, or operational. Faculty and presenters include top experts from the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Department of Defense, and academic settings.

The MHICS Certificate spans three academic semesters, each consisting of a course and a practicum. Each course requires completing distance modules, a written paper, and attending one 2.5-day face-to-face training intensive (3.5-days if pursuing D.Min.; see below). Each distance module is comprised of three 50-60-minute video didactics, readings, and interactive online assignments, requiring an estimated time of 8-12 hours each to complete. There is substantial flexibility in choosing when to complete the distance modules within guidelines provided to maximize small-group engagement in the practicum.

Practica focus on application of material through case examples and are marked by regularly scheduled 90-minute small-group consultation calls using video conferencing, which occur during the second week of each distance module. All participants present actual (de-identified) cases during their practicum calls as part of learning how to incorporate different evidence-based modalities into their chaplain care – in particular, Acceptance and Commitment Training (ACT), Problem-Solving Training (PST), and Motivational Interviewing (MI) – and to enhance collaboration with interdisciplinary colleagues.

An overview of the MHICS Certificate program is provided below (course content is subject to recurring change and improvement).

In response to consistent feedback from participants desiring a credential more commensurate with the substantial work entailed in MHICS, there is the option to use the MHICS Certificate as credit toward a Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) in Integrative Chaplaincy offered through Vanderbilt Divinity School. See divinity.vanderbilt.edu/dmin for more information, as well as the final page of this overview for a comparison of the Certificate and D.Min. options. Chaplains wishing to complete the MHICS Certificate without pursuing the D.Min. will continue to have the option to do so.

Course #3
Contemporary Conversations in Mental Health and Chaplaincy
August 25 – December 17, 2021

The third MHICS Certificate program course contains six distance modules that focus on topics of relevance at the intersection of chaplaincy, spirituality, and mental health care. The course overviews linkages between spirituality and mental health, examines the complexities and necessity of care for the care provider and command, and looks at areas of current pastoral concerns in the care of Veterans and Service members. Finally, the course concludes by considering the topics of spirituality, suffering, and resilience. Consultation calls in this practicum focus on the application of PST and MI in chaplaincy care.

- Module 1: Spirituality and linkages to mental health (2 weeks)
  - PST/MI training refresher
  - Unit 1.1: Examining the relationship between spirituality and health: Promises and pitfalls
  - Unit 1.2: Research growth and trends in spirituality and health
  - Unit 1.3: Spiritual care in a time of therapeutic technique
  - Practicum call

- Module 2: Research methods for chaplaincy (2 weeks)
  - Unit 2.1: Approaches to research within chaplaincy
  - Unit 2.2: Toward a research informed chaplaincy
  - Unit 2.3: Mixed methods for systematic inquiry and evaluating the impact of care
  - Practicum Call

- Module 3: Care for the care provider (2 weeks)
  - Unit 3.1: Stress response and self-care
  - Unit 3.2: Care for the care providers and command
  - Unit 3.3: ACT for the care provider
  - Practicum call

  - Day 1: MHICS application
  - Day 2: Sustainability
  - Day 3: Course evaluation and graduation (half day)
  - Day 4: D.Min. students complete extra day (afternoon on Day 3 plus half day on Day 4)
Comparison of MHICS Certificate and Doctor of Ministry in Integrative Chaplaincy

The MHICS Certificate training program occurs over the course of three academic semesters. Chaplains admitted to the MHICS Certificate program may apply to Vanderbilt Divinity School to pursue a Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) in Integrative Chaplaincy, with their work as part of the MHICS Certificate going toward academic credit for the D.Min. The D.Min. entails a total of 36 credit hours, 24 of which can be earned as part of the MHICS Certificate. In addition to completing all of the same work as the students only pursuing the MHICS Certificate, D.Min. students complete extra readings, assignments (e.g., quizzes, exams), and practicum work (e.g., case write-ups, peer calls) – with all work contributing to letter grades (as opposed to the pass/fail work for the MHICS Certificate only) submitted to the VDS Office of the Registrar at the end of each semester and contributing to a cumulative GPA. D.Min. students also attend one extra day as part of each of the three MHICS training intensives (i.e., 3.5-days instead of 2.5-days) and attend an additional 3.5-day on-campus training intensive after MHICS as part of the Research for Ministry course. Both D.Min. and MHICS Certificate students receive a MHICS Certificate upon satisfactory completion of the three semesters of coursework. Students who begin only pursuing the MHICS Certificate cannot later decide to pursue the D.Min. in Integrative Chaplaincy – they must apply and be accepted to the D.Min. through Vanderbilt Divinity School before the training begins. The table below compares the Certificate and D.Min. options.
