

Suicide Risk Management Consultation Program Lecture Series Suicide Risk and Prevention for Sexual and Gender Minority Populations

Please register by October 12, 2021 (VA Registration and Non-VA Registration)

Overview

Program Description:

Recent research shows people who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, or transgender experience high disparities in suicidal ideation and attempt.

Understanding and considering the social environmental context of risk and protective factors for sexual and gender minority populations is key to developing public health approaches to suicide prevention.

This month, John Blosnich, PhD, MPH will discuss suicide risk and prevention for sexual and gender minority populations.

Following this live, knowledge-based webinar, clinicians and health care teams will be able to:

- Describe disparities in suicidal ideation, attempt, and death observed by sexual orientation and gender identity.
- Explain risk factors for suicide for sexual and gender minority populations.
- Summarize current developments, challenges, and issues for suicide prevention specific to sexual and gender minority populations.
